

Helping Mexico's poor

By Joan Brown

The baby died in her arms.

For two weeks, Mary Ann Wilmarth and her husband, Roger, of Nollet Drive, tended the medical needs of the poorest of Mexico's poor - those living in the state of Oaxaca, south of Mexico City.

They were there as volunteers in the Maryknoll Call and Response program. Ms. Wilmarth's brother and sister-in-law, James and Margaret Petkiewicz, lay missionaries in Oaxaca City encouraged the Wilmarths to make the May visit.

It was during the visit - and during the baptism celebration of the Petkiewicz family's 6-month-old child - that a native, 6-month-old child died.

That child had hydrocephalus, a condition involving fluid and swelling of the brain. "Up here the techniques are phenomenal," said Ms. Wilmarth. "There, maybe one in 10 having surgery live."

Four assistant superintendent finalists interviewed

By Neil Fater

The School Committee interviewed the four finalists for the assistant superintendent position Tuesday and were scheduled to hear the recommendation of Dick Neal, superintendent, last night, Wednesday, after the Townsmen went to press.

Tina Girdwood said she suspected the committee would select the new assistant superintendent last night, although David Birnbach has asked for more time and Susan Dalton will not be present at the meeting.

The four finalists are Mary Ellen Correa, 47, a grant-writer from Brownsville, Texas; Donald Bevelander, 55, principal of Natick High School; Elsa Wasserman, a site liaison for a school development program for Maryland's Prince George's County; and Marinell McGrath, 41, director of curriculum and instruction in Newburyport.

AHS Warrior logo to go

New committee charged to keep colors, Warrior
name, but to change logo

By Neil Fater

Vocal and angry residents caused the School Committee Tuesday night to reconsider its original vote of the evening on the Golden Warrior issue and instead eliminate the profile of a Native American from the Andover High School logo altogether.

Andover High's new logo will now be "an inanimate object" to be determined by a logo committee.

Are cries of "Go, Inanimate-Objects, beat Methuen!" in Andover's future? No. The committee also voted to keep the name Golden Warriors and the blue and gold school colors. Andover will change only its logo, which has been described by many as racist and degrading to native Americans.

Parent, town seek solution;
Mother wants parents to help start middle-school group

By Neil Fater

Ask 12-year-old Sean Houlihan how he spends his summer days and he'll say he spends them sitting - sitting on his bike, sitting around the house watching TV, or sitting by the Shawsheen River, fishing.

And last week his fishing pole broke.

Sean's mother, Kim Houlihan of York Street, wants to change this. Rather than just add her voice to the "There's-nothing-to-do-in-this-town" throng, Ms. Houlihan hopes to start a volunteer summer program for middle-school-age kids. She'd like parent volunteers to take turns organizing activities such as softball or street hockey games.

"You get to this age right here, 12, and they have nothing at all. He (Sean) has a best friend who goes to West Middle and the two of them are usually in front of TV or on the floor," said Ms. Houlihan.

Warrior logo gone

Although most of the people at Tuesday's meeting were pleased with the committee's final vote, many were unhappy that the committee did not decide to do this until after the meeting's atmosphere became volatile.

"The shouting match that went on tonight, I was upset to see that," said Sarah Weir, who served as a student government representative to the School Committee this past year. "But I guess it's all a reflection of what goes on in this town, in this (school administration) building."

"I think if we didn't push them - let's be real - they wouldn't have taken a position," said Thomas Meyer, teachers' union president, who screamed at the committee to "Take a stand!"

"I think they wouldn't have moved if the audience hadn't put pressure on them," he said.

The future of the Warrior logo was second on the committee's agenda Tuesday night. As committee discussion regarding how to take the vote became bogged down, Richard Meyers, Andover High Class of 1993, strolled to the front of the room and waited to speak.

Susan Dalton, committee chairperson, indicated she did not want to discuss the issue with the audience because the committee had heard from the community during a recent forum.

However, Mr. Meyers, a Native American who was on the Andover High football team, said, "What I see here is a big delay tactic."

Lou Bernieri, an Abbot Street resident and a teacher and coach at Phillips Academy, agreed, saying he witnessed a similar delay tactic when he dealt with the school administration regarding another racial issue.

Mr. Bernieri said his black child was "attacked, called a nigger and threatened with a weapon," but he had to get the NAACP involved before appropriate action was taken.

Richard Meyers, who is Thomas Meyer's son, said later that he stood up because "there really was no other choice."

"People wanted to change the logo and she (Ms. Dalton) was dragging it out in a bureaucratic mess to get her own way," he claimed. "People have to take a stand if they're elected officials. I'm glad it was brought to a head."

The School Committee originally voted 3-1-1 to keep the Golden Warrior name, retain the blue and gold school colors, and form a logo committee to either modify the current logo or create a new logo using only non-living objects.

David Birnbach and Tina Girdwood opposed and passed on this motion, respectively, saying they supported the original proposal that came from the student government. Students present at the meeting were upset with the addition of the word "modify" because it left the door open to leaving a Native American as the school's logo and "mascot."

"David (Birnbach) mentions that he wants to empower the students and the faculty who are closest to this (issue), but at the same time we cannot shirk our responsibility to the greater Andover community," said Lloyd Willey, committee member. Mr. Willey said the committee must "make sure that there's a sanity check" on student government acts.

After this 3-1-1 vote, Thomas Meyers repeatedly yelled and questioned the committee as to whether students could still dress up as Native Americans. Ms. Dalton alleged Mr. Meyers' reaction "could have to do with the expanded media coverage we

NEWS IN BRIEF

No water shortage

Despite experiencing one of the driest spells in recent memory, Andover is not suffering a water shortage, according to Robert McQuade, Public Works director. Last Friday, July 7, Andover's water treatment plant on Lowell Street processed 13.3 million gallons of water. It is capable of processing 18 million gallons a day, and with bigger pumps could put out 24 million, Mr. McQuade said. But he said bigger pumps won't be needed for 10 or 15 years.

The town's water treatment plant takes water from Haggetts Pond. Haggetts Pond is supplemented with water from the Fish Brook pumping station, which is at the confluence of Fish Brook and the Merrimack River in West Andover. Although Fish Brook is almost dry, the Merrimack has plenty of water, said Mr. McQuade. Even during the severest drought on record, in 1969, the minimum flow in the Merrimack River was sufficient for Andover and all the other towns that use its water, he said.

The town currently is selling an average of one million gallons of water a day to North Reading, as it has been for several years. It also is selling water to Tewksbury on an emergency basis, as it does every summer.

SHED registration set

SHED Kid's Club is ready to enroll the Before School programs at each elementary school. SHED Kid's Club will run before school programs for first- through fifth-graders at each elementary school from 7:45 a.m. Children may arrive as early as 7:30 a.m. to eat breakfast, play games, socialize with friends, finish homework and visit with staff. If they wish, children may be released to play with friends as they arrive on the playground (after 8:15 a.m.), or to go to enrichment classes offered by the school. The programs will be licensed by the Office for Children. There will be approximately a 1:10 staff:child ratio, and, as always, safety and good supervision will be of utmost importance, said SHED administrators. Registration forms are being sent to all elementary students and should arrive by July 18; parents will have until Aug. 4 to return the forms and the $40 non-refundable registration fee.

If there is more need than space, children already in Kid's Club will be accepted first, then the enrollment will be dependent on the postal date as the forms are received. In the unlikely event that there is not enough room for all those interested, the registration fee would be returned. This registration does not guarantee entrance into the after-school Kid's Club program, which still has a 60-person waiting list.

Gas Company work upsets residents

By Don Staruk

Some Andover residents expressed concern this week about a plan by Bay State Gas Co. to dig up their lawns and driveways to upgrade the gas services to their houses. The work was scheduled to start in the next week or so, but may be delayed because of the residents' concerns and problems that Bob McQuade, Public Works director, have with the gas company's proposal.

Mr. McQuade is not too happy about the gas company's plan to dig 147 holes on Hemlock Road, which was paved just two years ago, he said. The work needs his approval before it can go to the Board of Selectmen for a vote, and he hadn't seen any of the plans as of Tuesday of this week. Selectmen have a meeting scheduled for this Monday, then don't meet again until Aug. 7.

Bill Caffrey, public affairs manager for Bay State Gas, said Tuesday that the company may have jumped the gun in sending out letters to about 15 customers saying the work would begin in mid-July. Gas company officials will meet with town officials, but the work has to be done and the company was still planning to start the work before the end of July, he said.

Bay State Gas is boosting pressure from 60 pounds per square inch to 99 pounds per square inch in the system that serves greater Lawrence. The upgrade is made necessary by increased demand on the system that services parts of Lawrence, Methuen, Andover and North Andover. The area of Andover effected is in West Andover, from the Lawrence line west along River Road to about Avery Street, and south to the Lovejoy Road/Wild Rose Drive area. About 5,000 customers will be affected in all, but Mr. Caffrey didn't know how many of those would be in Andover. The work will be done during a five-year period.

Robert E. Berger, of 26 Hemlock Road, was one of those who recently received one of the first letters sent out. He was worried about whether his property would be restored to its present condition and who would pay for it if it wasn't.

The work will interrupt gas service to some houses, and for those homes involved, indoor gas meters will be moved outside at the same time. The work would involve digging a 4-foot by 4-foot hole at the edge of residents' property to access the service. In some cases, a new smaller plastic tube will be pushed through the old service line. Where that cannot be done, the service line may need to be excavated. The work could involve cutting through driveways, sidewalks and lawns. In some cases, according to Mr. McQuade, it will involve damage to walls or ceilings of homes where service that currently comes in through slab foundations will be brought in through the attic.

Mr. Caffrey, and a new revised letter from the gas company, both state that the gas company will restore the property to its original condition.

"We'll be fully responsible for restoring the property," Mr. Caffrey said.

"Any disruption to your property resulting from the installation of the new gas service will be restored to its original condition. Examples include loam and seed, concrete sidewalks or apron, hot top, the letter reads.

Mr. McQuade said one of his concerns is the interpretation of "original condition." He wonders if a driveway or town road is newly paved, does a patch of hot top over a hole or trench constitute original condition.

"It's got to be spelled out a lot clearer," Mr. McQuade said.

Andover Bankcorp wants to open Andover Bank NH

Andover Bancorp Inc. has announced that it has filed applications with the state of New Hampshire, the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, The Federal Reserve System and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to request approval to charter a new subsidiary bank, Andover Bank NH, with a proposed headquarters and banking office in Salem, N.H.

Andover Bank NH, as proposed, will offer a full range of banking deposit and loan products and services.

Gerald T. Mulligan, president and chief executive officer of Andover Bancorp, said, "Because of its proximity to the New Hampshire border, Andover Bank has long considered southern New Hampshire a natural extension of its current market place. The bank presently has over 4,000 accounts with total deposits in excess of $22.5 million and 2,000 loans and serviced mortgages representing over $100 million with New Hampshire residents. The southern New Hampshire market continues to demonstrate increasing economic vitality. We look forward to assisting the continued growth of the region by providing our competitive array of deposit products and lending capabilities to individuals and small businesses at Andover Bank NH, our proposed New Hampshire community-based subsidiary."

Andover Bancorp, Inc. is the parent holding company of Andover Bank, a Massachusetts-chartered savings bank organized in 1834 and headquartered in Andover. The bank operates branch banking offices in Andover, Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Tewksbury.

Andover recognized for fluoride in its water

The Massachusetts Dental Society recently honored the Andover Department of Public Works Water Filtration Plant for its efforts to maintain optimal fluoride levels in its water system during 1994. It was one of the top five fluoridation systems in the state. Nancy Duggan accepted the award.

"We are very proud of the award recipients for their outstanding efforts on behalf of dental health," said Dr. Norman H. Diamond, president of the dental society.

Studies have shown that fluoridation reduces tooth decay in children and adults by as much as 60 percent. Some 3.4 million Massachusetts residents in more than 120 cities and towns benefit from fluoridated water. The Massachusetts Department of Public Health estimates that fluoridation prevents more than two million cavities in communities.

Shawsheen, Bailey Road hit with breaks

By Don Staruk

Several breaks in town early this week are keeping police busy.

A series of breaks reported in Shawsheen Village Monday, July 10, may be the work of the same person or persons, according to police.

And on Tuesday, two men kicked in the door of a house and entered it while a woman was asleep upstairs.

At 6:23 a.m. Monday, a Sherbourne Street resident reported someone had entered his house while the residents were sleeping and taken a pocketbook, wallet and car keys, and stolen a 1994 Honda Accord belonging to a houseguest. At 7:14 a.m., a car break was reported on Dartmouth Road. At 5:15 p.m., an attempted car break was reported on Franklin Avenue, and at 7 p.m., a car break was reported on Amherst Road.

The breaks and damage to a fence at Shawsheen School are thought to have occurred around the same time, and police are looking into whether they are connected.

On Tuesday morning, July 11, a car reported stolen from Lowell was recovered on Sherbourne Street. A witness reported seeing a white man roughly 30 years old leaving the car and running from it at about 8:30 Monday morning. It was unclear whether the stolen car was connected to the breaks, according to police.

Bailey Road hit

Two men driving a dark gray or black pickup truck are being sought for kicking in the door and entering a Bailey Road home while a woman was sleeping upstairs Tuesday afternoon, and the same pair may be responsible for at least one other break in the area.

At about 3:15 p.m., a Bailey Road woman reported she had just chased two men from her house and that they fled in the truck toward Haggetts Pond Road. The woman was home sick from work and was woken by the doorbell. When she looked out the window she saw two men walking back to the pickup truck in the driveway, and she went back to bed. A minute later she heard a loud bang when they kicked in the door and entered the house. One was coming up the stairs when she yelled and both fled.

One man was about 5 foot 11 inches, 190 pounds, wearing a dark shirt that looked like it might have been a serviceman's outfit. The second man was about 5 foot 9 inches, 150 pounds, with a light shirt, jeans and balding with dirty blond hair.

The victim said a woman in a minivan, possibly champagne or maroon, was driving by as the truck fled and may have seen more details. Police would like to talk with that woman.

As police were responding to that call, a second call was received from another Bailey Road resident who reported a black pickup truck with one or more men in it had pulled in the driveway and two young children at the home alone were concerned. They had called a parent at work and the parent called the police. Police later sorted out that the incident with the concerned kids actually occurred before the break down the street, and that the same men and truck were probably involved. The pair was likely scared off from the first house and went down the street where they kicked in the door to the woman's house, police said.

At 6:36 p.m., another house break was reported after an Evergreen Lane resident returned home and found the front door of the house kicked in and electronic equipment missing. Detectives suspect that break may be related to the Bailey Road incidents.

Bike Safety

Michael and Marie Belmore, owners of Andover Livery and Cab Company, donated several children's bicycles and helmets to deserving youths from the community in order to help promote the Andover Police Department's Community Policing Initiative and the School and Bicycle Safety Program under the direction of Safety Officer Charles Heseltine.

BUSINESS

Teacher, speaker and course-taker

Susan Rochwarg, a certified relocation professional and licensed real estate broker, recently taught a course at Northern Essex Community College, "Home Buying in the Merrimack Valley." The course included location, financing, inspection, contracts and mortgages. The course met at the college's Andover extension campus at Greater Lawrence Technical School, 57 River Road.

Lillian Montalto of Re/Max Preferred was the guest speaker for the Northern Virginia Association of Realtors on June 8 in Merrifield, Va. Her address to the Top Producers Breakfast Club focused on how to build a business by structuring a solid business plan, and by developing a strong team of assistants.

Vanessa Hunt, relocation director of Century 21 Carriage House, learned of more efficient methods to help customers with their relocation needs while attending the 1995 Century 21 Corporate Relocation Network Membership meeting in Nashville, Tenn.

Katja Gilmore, building inspector in Andover, recently completed training in post-earthquake safety evaluation of buildings. The course was sponsored by the Massachusetts Emergency Management Agency, which is headquartered in Framingham. With completion of the course, the more than 300 building inspectors and commissioners are now certified to evaluate the safety of buildings immediately following damaging earthquakes or similar events.

Learning Express choo-, choo-, chooses a new spot

By Neil Fater

The July 4th weekend is known as a time for freedom, fireworks, frankfurters and... moving?

Well, it is if you're Chip Will, owner of Learning Express.

With the help of family, friends and staff, Mr. Will moved his business from its former location on Chestnut Street over to 32 Park St. The Park Street site once housed Buchika's Ski Shop.

"I took a quick break to watch the horrors parade go by, but that was about it," Mr. Will said of his weekend. He spent the rest of the time getting ready for the new shop's opening, Wednesday, June 5.

Mr. Will gave one reason for the move.

"We needed more space, basically," he said. "I've been gradually expanding the product line to older kids."

Among the growing number of products are computer software programs for older elementary-school and

Dynamics Research Corporation lands prime contract

Dynamics Research Corporation has been awarded a prime contract by the U.S. Department of the Treasury to provide information processing support services to the Internal Revenue Service. The contract is for one year plus four one-year options and is valued at up to $200 million. The contract provides for cost plus fixed fee tasking. Initial funding is $750,000.

Dynamics Research and its team members will provide information processing services, federal information processing acquisition services and socio-technical services. Principal team members include Arthur D. Little, Inc., Flserv Inc. and Ultra Technologies Inc.

Albert Rand, president and CEO of Dynamics Research Corporation, said,

"This major contract award results from a concerted multi-year effort by DRC to serve federal agencies other than the DOD, traditionally our principal customer. I am pleased that this continues our record of winning bids during 1995. Earlier this year, DRC was awarded a $23.7 million Air Force contract to provide services to the Air Force, principally at Tinker Air Force Base in Oklahoma. We recently received an initial $2.1 million task order from the Air Force to provide expanded software IV&V service on the B1-B program."

D y n a m i c s

Research Corporation provides a wide range of specialized technical services to federal government agencies and also manufactures precision components for industrial measurement and control.

WHEN A LOW OFFER COMES IN

Your dining room table is the scene of high drama. Your home has been listed for sale for six weeks, and finally an offer has come in. You are meeting with the agents, and the offer sounds terrific until you get to the price — it is a whole lot less than you had expected.

Before you feel offended, remember that the first offer is often just the beginning of a negotiating process. Your agent can help you to weigh the good and bad points, and sometimes an offer with a low price can look quite attractive once you understand all of the terms. If you are willing to make some compromises, the buyers may accept a counter offer that will net you more money. Also a lower price from highly qualified buyers may be better than one from people who may have difficulties getting financing.

For solid advice on buying or selling real estate, consult the professionals at Century 21 Carriage House. Please call us at 475-1243, or stop by our office at 10 High Street.

Carriage House Photography wins awards

Good fortune seems to follow Carriage House Photography's owner Mark Spencer. Mark, his wife, Audrey, and daughter, Leah, moved themselves and their portrait photography business from Mountain View, Calif., to Andover in mid-May. The last two years of his photography business were marked by a series of major awards. They have included one first-place and two second-place finishes in the Wedding and Portrait Photographers International (WPPI) semi-annual print competition; WPPI's photographer of the month last October; second place in WPPI's annual print competition; first place in the Professional Photographers of California annual print competition in the wedding image category; the Fuji Masterpiece Award for the state of California in the wedding print division, and first place in the wedding album competition of Professional Photographers of America (PPA) for all of the Western United States. The Spencers hadn't even started to remodel their new studio in downtown Andover when news of another win arrived.

The Professional Photographers of America just completed its annual judging of prints submitted by portrait photographers all over the world. Each member may submit a maximum of four entries (an entry being either a portrait or a wedding album) in the hope that one or more of those entries will win the coveted merit award. This accolade signifies an image or wedding album of outstanding quality and results in the entry being displayed at the PPA National Convention at the end of July in Chicago. Mr. Spencer accomplished the rare feat of having all four of his entries (three prints and one wedding album) receive merit awards. His wedding album was also accepted into the "Loan Collection" of PPA, which means that excerpts of the album will be reproduced in a hardcover book showcasing the association's finest professional photography for 1995.

All the accolades have been especially good news for Mr. Spencer who, until his move to Andover, was also Dr. Spencer - a physicist who, for the last seven years worked as an atmospheric spectroscopist at the NASA Ames Research Center in Moffett Field, Calif. Although he has enjoyed his life as a scientist, Mr. Spencer's love for portrait photography took more of his time from the moment he opened his supposedly part-time studio five years ago to this past April when he and wife decided to concentrate on what they love most.

Quantic adds area clients

Quantic Communications of 3 Riverside Drive, a corporate communications company specializing in developing and supporting marketing strategies, business meetings, films/videos and print collateral for companies throughout New England, recently added several area businesses to its list of clients. A non-broadcast identity commercial was created to illustrate how the American Management Association's training helps people adapt to their changing environments. The video features high-end graphics and animation and takes the viewer on a ride through space and time, enforcing the importance of business training and education programs.

Quantic responded to Commercial Union Insurance's request to create a cornerstone video for a direct marketing campaign in support of its marketing seminars. The capabilities piece positions the company in the competitive insurance field and conveys the company's features and benefits with specific life situations.

A new corporate image and products and services video was produced for Wang Laboratories' Software Business Unit. Shot on 16mm film, the production features camera shots and angles that are overlapped with imagery, color washes and layered graphics.

In other news from the firm, Quantic donated video production services to create a fund-raising video for The New England Home for Little Wanderers in Boston. The video has contributed to a 28 percent increase in solicited donations. Funds from the campaign will support a renovation project underway to provide housing and programs for teen-age boys.

Eames named to Rivier College board

Catherine Conway Eames of Andover was voted in recently as a new member of the Rivier College Advisory Board.

The Rivier alumna is president of Conway

Capital Management Corporation, a Nashua company that manages private investment funds, and a frequent speaker at forums for business and finance. Ms. Eames is a board member for the YWCA in Lawrence.

Mr. Spencer is originally from Newton. The Spencers moved to Andover because, of all the communities in the Boston area they looked at, Andover had the best of just about everything they wanted in a community.

Mr. Spencer specializes in photographing families and children — frequently in the clients' own surroundings. The studio's "signature" product is a meticulously created image enlarged to wall portrait size and mounted on artist's canvas. Many Andover residents got a preview of his work during the Bazaar days weekend, June 23 and 24, when he displayed wall portraits in front of Enzo's. Most passersby assumed the canvas-mounted photographs were oil paintings. The new Carriage House Photography studio will open Aug. 1 at 2 Elm Square.

NEWS FOR SENIOR CITIZENS

By Katherine Urquhart, Interim coordinator, Council on Aging

A bake sale will be held at the Senior Center Friday, July 14, starting at 10:30 a.m. All donations are greatly appreciated.

The movie on Monday, July 17, will be the Lion King. Show starts at 12:30 p.m. Bring your grandchildren.

A country western cookout will be held Tuesday, July 18, from 11:30 a.m. to 2 p.m. Tickets are $4 and available at the Senior Center. Space is limited, so purchase them in advance.

If you don't have air conditioning, don't forget the Senior Center has and you are welcome to come get out of the heat.

We have a tendency to group together people with similar characteristics. There is, therefore, a group generally identified as the elderly who range from 50 (the age for joining AARP) to over 100. What other group has such range, such potential and such diversity? Most seniors lead vital, active lives. The center provides them with the opportunity to socialize with their peers and enjoy the give and take of life. Many come to their favorite activities once or twice a week, some only for bingo, some get involved in everything, while some are at the center only occasionally. We are a resource for seniors as well as all others in the community who are aging. (If you read last week's column, you know that is all of us.) If you haven't yet shared some of your talents or taken advantage of the center, don't hesitate. We are open Monday-Friday, 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Sign up for lunch by 2 p.m. for the following day.

SENIOR MENUS

The following meals will be served to senior citizens next week at the Senior Center at Whittier Court:

Monday: Baked chicken, sweet and sour sauce, french fries, green beans, chilled peaches.

Tuesday: Baked stuffed pork chop, brown sauce, rice pilaf, carrots, ice cream.

Wednesday: Baked Virginia ham with raisin sauce, au gratin potatoes, wax beans fresh fruit.

Thursday: Stuffed cabbage with tomato sauce, whipped potatoes, mixed vegetables, apples crisp.

Friday: Cup of corn chowder, seafood salad roll, peas, Jell-O with fruit.

For reservations, call 470-3830 before 2 p.m. on the business day before the lunch you plan to attend. Beef Wellington will be served Monday, July 24, and roast turkey on Tuesday, July 25.

Understanding Chiropractic

by Mark F. DeLorenzo, D.C.

TREATING SPORTS INJURIES

While there is little question that a regimen of exercise brings a great deal of benefit in terms of cardiovascular fitness and reduced stress, it can pose a risk for injury. For instance, jogging and skiing may be too strenuous for joints, ligaments, and the spinal column at the same time that they condition the rest of the body. When the jarring nature of these sports strains muscles and/or compromises the health of joints, chiropractic treatment can help restore health to the musculoskeletal system. Chiropractors are, in fact, specialists in biomechanics. They can assess the relationship between the muscles, ligaments, and joints and restore harmonious function to those areas that suffer injury.

Injured joints and muscles need professional care. The human body is by far the most complex mechanism known to us. It follows that it takes a specialist in bio-mechanics to understand the relationships of the many functions of the body and its nervous system. At DeLORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, we deal with this every day, and accept only those patients whom we sincerely believe we can help. Please call 475-5042 to schedule an appointment. We're located at 15 Central Street.

P.S. Chiropractors do not restrict their focus solely to the area of the back.

Your Dental HEALTH

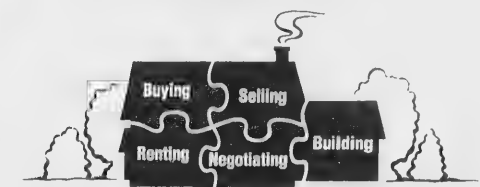

by Richard D. Hopgood, D.M.D.

A WHITER SMILE

Patients who are faced with age-related tooth discoloration can whiten their smiles with the application of bleach in the dentist's office. Bleaching usually requires two to four office visits during which the dentist protects the gums with a lubricant, applies a 35% hydrogen peroxide solution to the teeth, then exposes the teeth to high-intensity light to speed the chemical reaction. This procedure is the least expensive of tooth-whitening options and is most effective in cases where teeth have turned yellow or brown over the years. In-office bleaching will not produce a blindingly white Hollywood smile, but it will lighten teeth a few shades to produce a subtle but noticeable improvement.

Bleaching and other advances in cosmetic dentistry make it harder than ever to tell the difference between what's natural and what's not. They also make it easier than ever before to smile with confidence. This weekly column is prepared as a public service to help our Andover friends become aware of and better understand modern dentistry. If you would like more information on any of our topics or an appointment, please call us at 475-2431, 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93. Hours: Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6, & by appointment. P.S. Bleaching is less effective in whitening teeth that are gray, mottled, or stained due to tetracycline.

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, CLU, ChFC

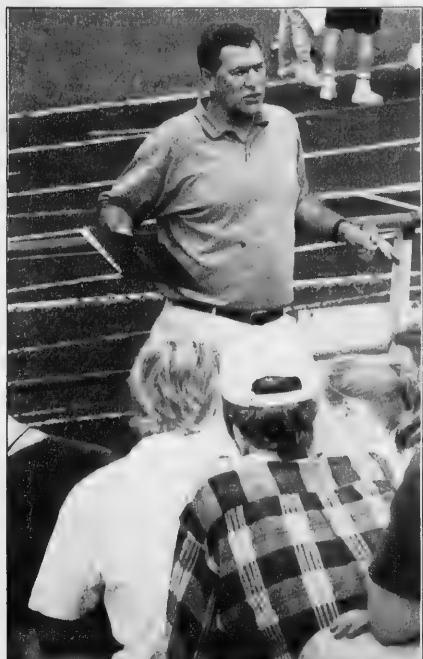

ALLOCATING ASSETS

A wise strategy for investing retirement funds makes use of "asset allocation" investment funds that are spread out among a number of investment options, rather than concentrated in a single type of investment. How well does diversification pay off? Look at the performance of five different investment portfolios over a 40-year period (1953 to 1992). An ultraconservative cash-only portfolio (three-month Treasury bills) yielded 5.5% per annum, while one comprised solely of high-quality corporate bonds (15-year or longer maturities) yielded a 6.2 annual return. A portfolio made up of 25% stocks (based on S&P 500) and 75% bonds returned 7.5%, while a 50% stocks/50% bond stock mix returned 8.9%. The best return (10.2%) came from a 75% stocks/25% bond portfolio. Indeed, optimum performance from any investment portfolio depends principally on what you wish to achieve with the funds and by when. Please let us be of assistance to you in building a portfolio that will meet your needs. Please call today.

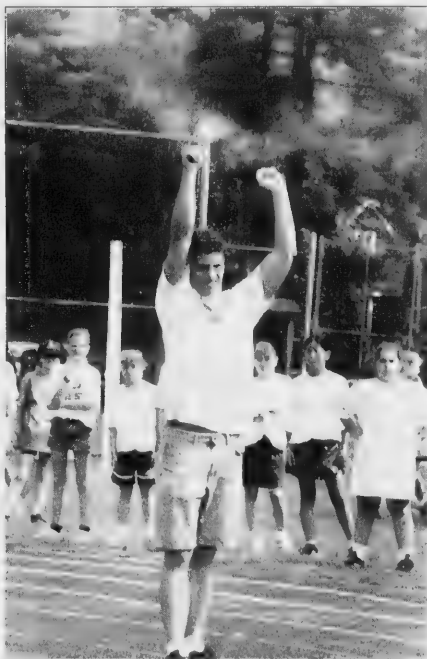

When it comes to investing money to earn money, you should seek the services of someone you can trust. BAYSTATE FINANCIAL SERVICES is Boston's oldest investment counseling service. Since 1901 we have been developing investment strategies that work for you. If you have any questions or if you would like to schedule an appointment for a consultation, please call us at 475-9212. Our office is conveniently located at 10 Essex Street, in Andover. We also have an office in Boston located at 100 N. Washington St. (617-523-4500). Written and verbal references are available upon request.

HINT: The most aggressive portfolio of those mentioned above took advantage of high returns in stocks and the security and predictable return of bonds.

SCHOOLS

The Andover public schools held its annual track relay meet for students in the fourth and fifth grades last month. Richard J. Bourdelais, program adviser for physical education, talks with the day's coaches, the juniors on the AHS varsity track team.

The Andover Youth Council honored four of its founding members - recent AHS graduates Max Soong, Dave Charland and Christine Anderson (missing from the photo is Stacey Jenkins) - for their energy, commitment and dedication to the young people of Andover. The four college-bound students were major participants in hiring Andover's first youth services coordinator and developing programs. Their vision was to create more recreational, educational, social and support services and activities for all youth of Andover. Since the students' sophomore year they have also been involved in the ongoing effort to establish a youth center in Andover.

Yankee Strummers will perform at The Park in the DCS summer concert series

The Department of Community Services summer Concerts in the Park series continues with a performance by the Yankee Strummers at the bandstand in The Park Wednesday, July 19.

The Yankee Strummer Banjo Band consists of members of the New England Banjo Society who have diverse backgrounds but a great affection for the sound of the banjo.

Their music is a ticket to travel back to the days of singalongs and straw hats. Most of their songbook consists of popular tunes dating as far back as the 1920s when the banjo was one of the nation's most popular musical instruments.

They are also known for developing unusual banjo interpretations of more contemporary musical offerings, organizers said.

Yankee Strummers usually limit most of their appearances to eastern Massachusetts and New Hampshire, although they have performed as far away as Baltimore and Toronto in recent years.

Some of their local performances have included the Hatch Shell in Boston, the Eastern States Exposition, Hampton Beach, the Topsfield Fair and an occasional television show.

They were featured on the television show "Yankee Magazine" in May 1991.

The series continues Wednesdays with the big-band sounds of the Mary Karl Orchestra on July

Jazz in town to autograph pup fiction

Jazz, profiled in a June 22 Townsmen story by Neil Fater, will be accompanied by her owner, Andover author Jeanne Schinto. Ms. Schinto's literary credits include a book of her own poetry, Shadow Bands, and a novel, Children of Men. Ms. Schinto has also written a non-fiction book about the city of Lawrence, which will be released in the fall.

26; The Debbie Wey Band on Aug. 2; Four Guys in Tuxes - playing requests - on Aug. 9; R.G. Gallagher Band - featuring country, rock and blues - on Aug. 16; and The Swing Legacy on Aug. 23.

Consider
These Thoughts
by Garry A. Burke

UNIVERSAL UNDERSTANDING

The very fact that the universe presents itself as an incomprehensible idea may be the best argument in favor of the existence of its Creator. In Blaise Pascal's words: "All this visible universe is only an imperceptible point in the vast bosom of nature. The mind of man cannot grasp it. It is in vain that we try to stretch our conceptions beyond imaginable space; we bring before the mind's eye merely atoms in comparison with the reality of things. It is an infinite sphere, of which the centre is everywhere, the circumference nowhere. In short, the strongest proof of the almighty power of God is that our imagination loses itself in the conception."

There is no more difficult a period for a family than that encountered immediately after a death. Death puts family members under considerable stress during a time that there is a need for them to share in the decisions and concerns regarding the arrangements. By pre-planning your funeral arrangements, you will have the time to investigate the available options, anticipated costs, and other considerations so that decisions can be made in advance of any crisis. For more information about funeral arrangements, call BURKE FUNERAL HOME at 475-5200. We are located at 390 North Main Street.

QUOTE: "The universe is but one vast symbol of God."
Thomas Carlyle

4 finalists named for director of Elder Services

By Don Staruk and Neil Fater

Members of the Council on Aging and Candace Hall, the town's personnel director, have chosen four finalists for the director of Elder Services position.

Sharon Souza vacated the position earlier this year to take a similar position in New Bedford, near her hometown.

The four will be interviewed this week, and Buzz Stapczynski, town manager, said he will choose a new director within two weeks.

The four are:

• Katherine Urquhart, of Danville, N.H., current acting director and an employee of Andover's Senior Center since 1984. She was previously employed by Casa Grande long-term care facility in Tewksbury for two years, and she was a volunteer for Lincoln-Sewall Day Care Inc. in Brookline four years.

Ms. Urquhart has a master's degree in human services from New Hampshire College with a concentration in gerontology.

• John F. Beckley, of Melrose, executive director of the Melrose Council on Aging since 1987. That Council on Aging has 12 staff members and a budget of $135,000.

Mr. Beckley was supervisor of Mystic Valley Elder Service in Malden for a year and a half, and of the Family Service of Greater Boston for two years, and he was a clinician at Greater Boston for four years. He was a caseworker for Massachusetts General Hospital and a social worker and supervisor at the state Department of Mental Health.

Mr. Beckley has a master's of social work from Boston University and a bachelor's degree in sociology and social work from Central Connecticut State College.

• Jeanne M. Madden, of Waltham, is executive secretary of Arlington's Council on Aging, with 20 staff and 150 volunteers, a position she has held for more than five years.

Ms. Beckley was executive director of Cambridge's Council on Aging for two years. She also served as interim director of Cambridge and Somerville Legal Services Inc., an antipoverty program, for part of 1986. She had have here," which included radio, print and television reporters.

"If the School Committee cannot condemn a racist symbol then that is an incredible statement," said Mr. Bernieri. "This doesn't surprise me at all."

Patrolman William Wallace responded to a call about a "meeting getting out of control" from someone at the meeting, but by the time he arrived, the meeting was under control.

Jim Krasnood, of Candlewood Drive, asked members to plainly state whether they want the Native American logo to continue.

Eventually, the committee voted 4-1 to reconsider the earlier motion. Ms. Dalton was opposed.

Mr. Willey eliminated the option of modifying the current logo from his motion, requiring that a logo committee create a new logo of a non-living object.

This motion passed 3-1-1, with Ms. Dalton opposed. David Birnbach passed because he supported the students' original petition.

Students will account for half of the logo committee. The other 50 percent will include administrators, faculty, staff and other members of the Andover community.

worked as planning and development coordinator for the program for three years and as director of various Legal Service's elder programs for two years. She was a paralegal at the Massachusetts Law Reform Institute for a year and a half.

Ms. Beckley has a master's degree in human-services planning and administration from UMass-Boston, and a bachelor's degree in management and law, also from UMass.

• Joanne M. Sheehan, of Concord, is director of elder services in Westford, with a department budget of $55,000 and a senior center budget of $30,000. She has held that job since 1992.

She previously ran Westford's Recreation Department for four years, and ran Concord's rec department 10 years. She has a master's degree in management from Fitchburg State College and a bachelor's in education from Keene State College.

Small and friendly lost in bank buys

KEN JOHNSON Hitting Home

Scarcely a day passes without another story about banks buying banks.
Just last week, NationsBank Corp. of Charlotte, N.C., purchased Florida's largest savings and loan for $516 million. The purchase was the ninth in 12 months for NationsBank, the country's fourth largest bank. Closer to home, the $3.7 billion Fleet Financial-Shawmut merger is still awaiting regulatory approval.
And Bay Banks Inc. of Boston completed its purchase of NPS Financial Corp. of Nashua, N.H. for $98 million. NPS Financial's NPS Savings Bank and Plakstow Cooperative Bank subsidiaries will be merged and operated as Bay Bank FSB.

Helping Mexico's poor

Doctors had already decided the child wouldn't be one of the lucky ones to have surgery, though the little boy had already outlived the physicians' predictions.

"The family was wonderful with him," said Ms. Wilmarth. Invited to the baptism, the Mexican family and child enjoyed the festivities until near the end, when the child became ill.

"The little baby had a seizure and died in my arms," said Ms. Wilmarth. The family had handed the child to her immediately, but she said she knew that nothing could be done.

"I thought maybe the mother should be holding him," she said, knowing how important it is to families in the states to be in contact with their young at the time of death.

But the Mexican family was honored to have the American valiantly trying to tend to their son as he died.

"They considered it the ultimate honor to have him in my arms," she said.

Oaxaca City

The capital city of Oaxaca state, Oaxaca attracts tourists to the resort areas in the center of town.

"It's very touristy. But as soon as you leave the immediate center of the city, you get into the poor... it's apparently the poorest state in Mexico."

As a physical therapist and orthopedic-certified specialist, Ms. Wilmarth found medical care severely lacking in the city. She visited an orphanage where most of the children had birth defects or cerebral palsy. Many of the ailments resulted from high fevers in the children as infants.

"People don't know how to care for them," she said.

There was some physical therapy available, but lack of education meant few adequately-trained therapists.

"They try to get most of the children to go through a few grades. Going beyond that is rare."

The therapist "is a person who maybe had a sixth-grade education, trying to do what she could," said Ms. Wilmarth.

"One of the girls (at the orphanage)... they were trying to get her to walk. It turned out she had a dislocated hip," said Ms. Wilmarth. The girl shouldn't have been on her feet, she said.

In the city's rehabilitation clinic, two physical therapists and five nurses - each with one month's training as physical therapists - treated the city's residents.

"Their medical care is way back. Their techniques were probably 20 years old," said Ms. Wilmarth. "The water is so bad down there that whirlpools corrode quickly."

Interest in Ms. Wilmarth's taping skills was high among the therapists.

"I asked, 'What do you want from me?' They wanted sports medicine and taping," she said.

The demand comes from soccer teams and particularly professional soccer players, she said.

Monte Alban

Part of the Wilmarths' time was spent in the poorer regions outside Oaxaca City, where poverty permeates the Mexican hillside. Minimum wage is in the range of a few dollars a week, and many of the poorer families don't even have that, said Ms. Wilmarth.

She remembers the homes on the side of a hill leading to the ruins on Monte Alban, a mountain in Oaxaca.

"These people are just living in sheets of metal that they've pieced together, eight by 10 or so - for 10 people. They cook on rocks, with twigs."

Ms. Wilmarth remembered entering one hillside shack. A double-bed and bunk bed stood on the dirt floor in the home of a family of eight. One boy had cerebral palsy, and spent his days on a mattress on the floor.

"He had a disposable diaper on that probably had been on for two to three days," she said. She worked with the family, teaching them to care for the child, showing them how to position him.

In another family, a 21-year-old daughter with cerebral palsy was using the same walker since her childhood.

"The walker was made out of an upside-down barrel for a seat," said Ms. Wilmarth. Reinforcing rods normally used for sidewalk construction supported the barrel. Ms. Wilmarth helped the family fashion a more suitable walker.

"They were so appreciative and so enthusiastic to have someone come," said Ms. Wilmarth.

The Oaxaca families tend to include a lot of children, she said, and a lot of diseases. "It's overwhelming for them. They don't have any money for medical treatment."

Coming home

Two hours after the baby died in her arms, Ms. Wilmarth was on a plane leaving Oaxaca.

She later checked on the baby's family. After the traditional two weeks of intense mourning, she said they were doing well. The family believes the baby is "an angel now and he's looking after them."

Coming back to the states, to her three children and her home, Ms. Wilmarth said the experience made her appreciate life here "so much more." She'd like to bring an awareness of what goes on there to people here, she said.

"I knew it would affect me. I just didn't know how much."

Want to visit Oaxaca?

The Wilmarths visited Oaxaca under Maryknoll's Call and Response program, designed to provide opportunities for service in Mexico.

In its 11th year, the program offers one-, two- and three-week trips for high school, college, senior citizen and youth groups, and trips for individuals, adults and families.

"It's open to anyone who wants to go for some mission exposure," said

Doris Ferraro, director of the fulfillment department at Maryknoll.

Participants are housed dormitory-style in the Oaxaca area. Meals consist of the beans, rice and pasta common to the area.

People interested in the program can request information or an application from program director Mary Lou Doran, 10636 N. 37th Ave., Phoenix, Arizona 85029.

What's a middle-school-aged kid to do?

"There's not many kids in the neighborhood right now," said Sean.

Sean is the oldest of Ms. Houlihan's four children, and he has a sister in elementary school. Although Ms. Houlihan puts her 10-year-old daughter in a summer-long school drop-in camp for $65, she said a similar option does not exist for children Sean's age.

The town's youth services department offers a summer program for $50 per week, but Ms. Houlihan said that's too expensive for many people. She noted the program cost only $89 for the entire summer last year.

Bill Fahey, youth services coordinator, appeared sympathetic to Ms. Houlihan's position, saying he wants to offer more free programs for middle-school children.

He said the price of the summer program jumped because Andover lost a smoking cessation grant from the state and because the program now offers more activities.

"My philosophy is you can't charge kids for every single thing, every single event," he said.

For some reason, however, few people appear interested in the relatively inexpensive middle-school activities Mr. Fahey set up this summer (see related story).

"Middle-school kids are saying, 'There's nothing to do.' Parents are trying to find something to do. We have to link those two things. Maybe what this woman's trying to do is the answer," said Mr. Fahey. "Everyone's concerned about middle-school kids, but what's the next step? How do we provide for them?"

Ms. Houlihan hopes her volunteer program helps.

"I've talked to a couple parents who do have 12-year-olds at home doing nothing," said Ms. Houlihan. "I know a lot of the kids are going on vacation with their parents but there are eight or nine weeks of summer and they might go away for one or two."

"Plenty of people advertise for play groups for the younger students. I want to do it for the middle-school students. There's got to be plenty of parents who have balls and mitts in their own house. Why can't we all get involved?" she asked. "In this town, unless you're rich, you're not allowed to do anything."

Ms. Houlihan said her goal is to get the kids out from in front of the TV and into a group activity twice a week.

"I'd just like to get this going as soon as possible. I'd like to see them making some go-carts, playing some sports," she said. "I figure out of 1,200 or so (middle school) kids we ought to be able to get 20 or 30 kids, enough to make a team, anyway."

Those interested in starting this program can call Kim Houlihan at 474-9373.

Poor turnout threatens town's youth activities

By Neil Fater

The town finally is offering youths things to do and no one is registering to do them.

According to Bill Fahey, youth services coordinator, this apparent lack of interest could spell the end of several summer youth programs, most of which target middle-school-age youths.

The activities in danger of being canceled include every week of a summer-long camp, an ice-skating night, a trip to a Red Sox game and a middle-school dance.

A few activities — such as the first week of summer camp and an earlier Red Sox game — already have been canceled due to lack of interest.

Only one person showed up for the first night of open gym, when youths can pay $2 to use West Middle School facilities for basketball or volleyball, said Mr. Fahey.

"I can't keep holding these activities and paying people to be there and no one shows up," he said.

While nearly all of the programs involving middle-school youths are struggling to find support, most High School-age activities are thriving. More than 190 people paid to listen to three bands play at Old Town Hall last Friday, July 7.

Why is this happening? Mr. Fahey offers a couple of possible answers.

First of all, because of his involvement with Youth Council members and other youth groups, Mr. Fahey has had more interaction with High-School students than with middle-school youths. Therefore, news of High-School-age activities travels by word of mouth and the activities succeed, he said.

Mr. Fahey indicated that developing the needed connections with middle-school students may take a further commitment by the town.

"I'm only one person and there's no (full-time) staff, although now we have some people on board. You're not going to be able to do that with one person and $5,000 (for a budget). You need to put more resources there," he said. "Particularly after fifth grade and until 10th grade, that's a very sensitive area and people are looking for things to do there."

Mr. Fahey also said that because Andover lost a state grant, it took youth services some time to decide what services it could offer this summer. By the time Mr. Fahey let people know what was available, some parents already had signed up their children for camps or other activities, he said.

The youth-services camp costs $50 per week this year. The camp is in jeopardy because not enough kids have signed up for the same weeks.

"We're doing more this year than last year. The camp is five days a week with three days of traveling — taking a trip or a hike," said Mr. Fahey.

But some parents, such as York Street's Kim Houlihan (see related story), believe the programs are too expensive and say that's why they don't use them.

Mr. Fahey said he has to charge fees to pay for janitors when he uses town facilities and for transportation during trips.

"My budget for the year, people need to know, is $5,000. It's a zero-based budget. I can't lose it," said Mr. Fahey.

This means he must end the year with $5,000 in the youth services account.

"I'm a strong advocate for having things in the community where there's no fee attached," said Mr. Fahey. "If a kid doesn't have any money to get in, all they have to do is tell me. I don't care if it's 50 of them or one. The ultimate goal is providing more free activities."

"What do we offer is a huge problem in this town (for kids) after they get out

EDITORIAL

'Nothing to do'

Three cheers for Kim Houlihan of York Street, the mother of a 12-year-old boy who is having trouble finding good things to do this summer.

Currently Sean Houlihan spends his days riding his bike, sitting around the house watching television or sitting by the Shawsheen River, fishing. Take away the TV and that's not a bad scenario for a 12-year-old.

Still, Ms. Houlihan would like some organized games for her son to play. So she's proposing some parents get together, organize some games, and volunteer to challenge their youngsters this summer.

If it works, that will be fine. Trouble is, many parents work and don't have time to run games for 12-year-olds. We might suggest that if that turns out to be the case, the group could hire some high-school-age kids to run a game or two for the kids.

People who are older than 50 can remember the days when there wasn't any TV, when the most passive recreation they had was a Saturday movie at the local screening room. In those days, 12-year-old kids amused themselves by organizing neighborhood ball games themselves. They were highly motivated and generally an active group because they didn't have television to turn to for entertainment. They read books, drew pictures, played softball and kickball with friends on the block, and they even wrote stories and put together neighborhood newspapers.

Now parents drive their kids to lessons, so many lessons the kids sometimes don't understand how to entertain themselves by themselves, even for a short period of time.

Yes, some organized activities for youngsters is a good idea. Kids with too much idle time on their hands are apt to get into mischief. But some open-ended time is good. Sitting on the banks of the river with a fishing rod with – or even without – a buddy stimulates the imagination.

A summer without television would be a good start. A summer with an occasional organized ball game would be fine. And a summer learning to fend for oneself would be good, too.

Stop whining about your roots

Editor, Townsmen:

I write in response to Mr. Charles Dalton's letter concerning the Andover High School logo and its pending change. I must say that in all your defense (which, I might add, is absolutely nothing new), you are missing one point that would make your complaint relevant: At the moment, you are not attending AHS. Therefore, what's your gripe? The teams at AHS have pride, respect and honor. Period. Names are names. It may slightly affect the team, but I fail to see your connection with the present Andover teams in a way that it would affect you.

I have lived here for one year, in August. Therefore, I suppose, in comparison to someone who has his roots deep beneath the Andover soil, I am nobody, and this letter is moot. But let me ask you something. If however many millennia ago some human predecessor didn't feel comfortable with the use of the wheel as opposed to travel by foot or animal and, in the passion of the primitive times, killed everyone who didn't agree with him, where would we be?

I am not saying that the revelation of the wheel has as much impact on humanity as a high school logo, or that someone such as you would strike down all opposition. But if everyone had the same attitude as you, which is "if it was good before, it's good now and always will be, ad infinitum," we would live in a society with no innovation, invention or change.

If, for some reason (like the fact that AHS students who had enough pride and respect for their school to vote on this issue voted for the change), the Warrior was changed, who would it hurt? What would we lose? The past? Of course not. Your family would still hold the pride, respect and honor due to their name. Would it change any amount of the "bravery, strength, courage and pride" that the truly respecting AHS athletes hold? Absolutely not.

Yet, the offense, the same offense that runs parallel to your golden "roots," the same offense that caused the community's delay in cleaning away several of the swastikas that pockmarked our town not too long ago, the same offense that has silently grown and grown in this commonwealth for as long as the Warrior has existed, the offense will stay for as long as the Warrior stays.

To close, I'd just like to say that your roots are nothing: they can bring back memories, but to me and the rest of the real world, who cares who your father was? If I want respect, I earn it for myself, I don't rely on my past to give me some sort of makeshift power. Would it give me any extra say in this town if I were to tell you that my ninth cousin was William Howard Taft, president of the United States? Of course not. So, what does your father have to do with this?

The fact that any of your friends or relatives were Warriors is solid; it will never change. People are different. Because your parents or family think one way, it's perfectly fine to think differently. I know that this response probably won't change your mind (in fact, it just may push you deeper in your cause), but this response was intended to show you how wrong anyone can be and also how wrong can transcend long periods of time and still not be corrected. Change isn't evil; brainwashing is. Think about it. Stop whining about your bloody roots.

This woman is unselfish, humble

Editor, Townsmen:

I am writing to thank you for the July 6 article on Elizabeth Schiapucci, the winner of the Humane Society's highest award. When your original story appeared reporting the car crash and her courageous rescue efforts, we were just stunned.

Liz, in her usual humble ways, hadn't even told us of this frightful experience. I wanted to bang the drums and announce to the world how proud and truly inspired we all were by her unselfishness. Liz is a very special person.

This recognition is especially wonderful because she and my brother, Scott, have never been given a lucky break. They both work constantly, she works at night as a nurse's aid (even at eight months pregnant) and my brother is a hard-working carpenter. Monthly bills can be really tough for them to pay. Even with her struggles, she never ceases to be loving to my brother, to their pride and joy, Douglas, and now to even strangers. It's so refreshing to read news about a person who can actually rise above the standards of humanity and shine like an angel. Congratulations on your award, Liz, you certainly deserve it.

Anyone can be offended by anything

Editor, Townsmen:

The past months have provided Andover's young with numerous opportunities for out-of-school learning.

The drive for a youth center offered total adult supervision with total youth initiative in the spending of town money. The amount of sincerity and energy expended guaranteed success. The negative Town Meeting vote was a rude awakening that there are never guarantees of success. As the Rolling Stones said, "You can't always get what you want."

A more amusing lesson came when High School students discovered that construction workers use language that teen-agers thought was reserved for them. Attempts to play offended victim and get workers fired fell on deaf ears, as building buildings won out.

The on-going dispute over an Andover sports logo is an example of a temper tantrum refined into a political argument by those who think that freedom from being offended is a part of the Constitution. But anyone can be offended about anything. Mr. Dalton is scolded for "telling the rest of us whether or not it is acceptable for us to be offended," but not allowed his "right" to be or not to be offended. Who wins when each side claims that it is more offended than the other side?

An eagle is a bird of prey, killing innocent, harmless birds. I am threatened that Andover would use such a logo; "dehumanized, derogatorized, trivialized, my pain belittled, my religion mocked and derided by ignorant inappropriateness." In other words, a victim. I win, you lose.

Andover town trucks and trash receptacles once sported a Pilgrim symbol. What a fertile field for offense... not just a wildly inaccurate Pilgrim, but a male one, too. Bye, bye, Pilgrim.

Forty years ago Bill Doherty felt that a Blue Devil was a sacrilegious mascot and had it changed (he had the votes). Bye, bye, Blue Devil. The Golden Warrior was not an "ignorant depiction of a Native American without any regard to its historical accuracy," but an abstract logo created by a graphic designer.

Which groups of Indians are offended, since no Indians have painted themselves gold or used a gold headdress? Should Aleuts be offended? Their homeland is farther from Andover than Europe and they look even less like a golden warrior. Which Andover group of Indians is offended when there is no group of Indians left? If we do create a historically accurate depiction of an early Andover Indian, who will be first in line to be offended and demand its removal?

In an Andover of luxury, the young have grown up in a world of virtual reality. They are shocked when the real world intrudes. But being offended is not a valid excuse for political action. An old, safe, dull 1950s politically correct logo might be.

Papa Gino's employees robbed

By Don Staruk

Two men wielding baseball bats robbed two Papa Gino's employees last Friday night, July 7, as the employees were leaving the Shawshen Plaza store. The thieves escaped with an undetermined amount of cash. According to police, the two male employees had just closed the restaurant and one of them had a money bag to deposit in a local bank.

As the two walked around the side of the building to their cars, two men came running toward them out of the woods. The assailants, dressed in black and wearing nylon stockings over their heads, both had baseball bats. One was about 5 foot 7 inches tall. The other was about 5 foot 10. The shorter of the two swung his bat and hit one of the restaurant employees in the neck, causing him to drop the money bag. Both employees ran. The suspects took the bag and ran back into the woods, toward Harding Street.

Police responding found one of the nylon masks after a search of the area.

"It appears as though whoever did it possibly knew the standard operating procedure for closing up and depositing the money," Detective Donald Pattullo said this week.

Neither of the two employees involved is suspected of complicity in the robbery, according to Detective Pattullo.

The employee who was struck was examined by emergency medical technicians at the scene, but did not require further treatment. Police are following a couple of leads, but would appreciate any information anyone may have pertaining to possible suspects.

Suspect caught in armed robbery at Mr. Whippy's

By Don Staruk

A Gardner man was arrested and charged this week for last Wednesday afternoon's armed robbery of the Mr. Whippy ice cream store on Andover Street.

Peter P. Mangin, 36, of Gardner, was charged with armed robbery, using a motor vehicle in the commission of a crime, and receiving a stolen motor vehicle. He is being held in Concord State Prison.

Mr. Mangin was on parole at the time he was arrested, according to Andover Lieutenant Arthur Ricci.

"He has a tremendously long record, one of the longest we've seen, all different stuff," Lt. Ricci said.

Lt. Ricci said the suspect has 120 cases in different courts in the state.

According to police reports, the "grubby looking" suspect wearing T-shirt, jeans and a brown beard entered the store Wednesday, July 5, at about 5:25 p.m. and asked the female employee if she was alone, which she was. He also asked if there was a safe in a back room.

He said he had a gun under his shirt and that she wouldn't get hurt if he got all the money.

He jumped the counter and had her open the drawers, then went into the back and took the money from the safe, which was not locked. The suspect took cash and stuffed rolls of coins into his socks, fleeing in a gray pick-up truck with about $880.

Caught and let go

Lawrence police had Mr. Mangin briefly in their custody a few hours later, but let him go before they connected him to the Andover robbery. They had received reports that a man crashed a truck, then collapsed after residents chased him fleeing the scene. As he fled, Mr. Mangin, allegedly said that he was being chased by police and that he had just robbed a store in Andover, according to police reports.

When questioned by Lawrence police at Lawrence General Hospital, Mr. Mangin had about $330 cash on him, including rolls of coins stuffed in his socks and crotch area.

But Lawrence police released him at the hospital because they did not know about the Andover robbery and had not yet discovered that the truck was stolen from Lowell several weeks earlier.

Patrolman James Reilly is being assisted by Detective Kevin Burke in the investigation.

Senior Center plans bake sale tomorrow

The Andover Senior Center at Whittier Court will hold its monthly bakery sale Friday, July 14, from 10:30 a.m. to 1 p.m.

Proceeds will benefit the senior center building expansion fund.

At the same time there will be a special book sale to help in the purchase of bookshelves for the library.

of fifth grade and before they get their license? Someone's got to take it to the next level," he said.

Mr. Fahey said his long-term goals include having a special program for the transitional sixth-grade year, and getting the summer camp running so that Andover High graduates can return to summer jobs in a developed program.

He also hopes to run rock-climbing classes on four consecutive Saturdays, July 22, July 29, Aug. 5 and Aug. 12. The day trips would teach the basic elements at a local site for $15 per eight-hour day. Mr. Fahey said he needs eight to 12 people aged 12 to 19 for each day. He suggests groups of friends get together and call his office.

"We could offer these trips during the week, if somehow we knew of people's interest," said Mr. Fahey. "I totally lose money on those days, but I'm just trying to get kids to try different things."

Here are some other programs in danger of being eliminated:

- Youth services rented a skating rink in Newburyport so middle schoolers could skate during the evening of Friday, July 28. Skaters must pay $10 to cover admission and two-way transportation. However, 25 kids must sign up by tomorrow, Friday, July 14, for the trip to run. Mr. Fahey said anyone interested in this or another activity should call his office at 470-3800, Ext. 226. As of Monday no one had expressed an interest in going.

- Middle-school students (ages 12-15) could watch a battle of first-place clubs when the Red Sox take on Cleveland's Tribe during an Aug. 8 night game. But 25 kids must register for this $10 event by July 25. Plans to attend a July 18 game were called off when only six youths signed up to see the Aguilera-augmented Sox.

• Youths also can attend a middle-school dance Thursday, July 20, provided 75 people call Mr. Fahey to let him know they will attend. Only 25 people attended the last dance, July 6 at Old Town Hall.

Recall article ready

By Neil Fater

Lynne Robidoux, the head supporter of establishing a recall process in Andover, won't call a Special Town Meeting just for the recall issue, but said she will put a recall article on the warrant if a Special Town Meeting is called for another reason.

She's not willing to call a Special Town Meeting herself because of the extra money the town must spend to hold such a meeting, she said.

The Andover Youth Council and other people have discussed having a Special Town Meeting by this fall.

Ms. Robidoux, of Brundrett Avenue, said the recall article is completed and ready when needed.

"The final draft has been typed up," said Ms. Robidoux. "We are getting signatures now. It should be coming back to me soon."

Ms. Robidoux was on Lawrence radio station WCCM Tuesday afternoon discussing the recall initiative. Ms. Robidoux has said the behavior of School Committee members Susan Dalton, Dick Muller and Lloyd Willey has made her feel Andover citizens need a recall option available to them.

The recall article must be approved at Town Meeting and by the state Legislature before it can be used.

Andover Little League All-Stars win 3 of 4 in tourney

By Rick Harrison

The Massachusetts District 14 Little League All-Star Tournament got off to a successful start for three of Andover's four teams last weekend.

The Andover American and National entries in the Major 11-12 year old Division, as well as the Junior 13-year-old squad, each registered a victory in the opening round of the double-elimination tourney.

The Andover American 11-12 All-Stars whitewashed Methuen West, 9-0, and the National All-Stars rallied for three runs in the bottom half of the final inning to stun South Lawrence West, 5-4.

The Junior 13's broke open a tie game in the late innings en route to a 10-3 triumph over Lowell Gallery.

The Andover Senior 14-15 team ran into trouble, however, with a 16-2 loss to Billerica National that sent the locals tumbling into the loser's bracket.

The three victors advanced to winner's bracket quarterfinal and semifinal games scheduled earlier this week after Townsmen presstime.

Tuesday night Andover American played Haverhill American (2-0), which had two prior tourney wins over Lawrence Prospect Hill (7-3) and Lawrence Tower Hill (3-2).

Also on Tuesday, Andover National faced Tewksbury National (2-0) which had previously posted a pair of one-run victories over Billerica American (3-2 in eight innings) and Haverhill PAL (7-6).

If either or both Andover Major 11-12 teams won on Tuesday, they return to action next Tuesday in the winner's bracket semifinals.

Losses by either or both move them to the loser's bracket where they next compete on Monday against an as-yet undetermined opponent.

The Andover Junior 13's played Chelmsford Fitts in a winner's bracket semifinal last night. The victor in that game moves to the winner's bracket final this Sunday afternoon, while the vanquished tries to stave off elimination with a loser's bracket game this Saturday (times, sites and opponents undetermined at presstime).

The Andover Senior 14-15 team will try to stay alive when it returns to action Saturday in a loser's bracket game. The opponent is the survivor of a loser's bracket game played last night, with the time and site of Saturday's game undetermined at presstime.

MAJOR 11-12 DIVISION

Andover American 9

Methuen West 0

Mike DaSilva, Andrew Yurko and Dany Hughes combined for a four-hit shutout, walking two and striking out seven, as the Americans rolled to victory under the lights at Milk Street Veterans Field in Methuen.

Righthander DaSilva (1-0) earned the win with four frames of two-hit pitching, walking two and whiffing four.

Righthander Yurko and lefty Hughes each yielded one hit in one inning of relief, Yurko fanning two and Hughes one.

Andover bolted to a 4-0 first-inning lead when Chris Caverly drilled a one-out double to right field, Hughes singled and stole second, Jon Maloney lashed a two-run single to center, DaSilva walked, and Brendan Gleason ripped a two-run triple to right.

passed ball to make it 5-0.

DaSilva singled, stole second and crossed on Gleason's single to launch the third. Gleason later scored the seventh run on a passed ball.

In the fourth, Georgie Miliotis walked, Hughes singled, Maloney hammered an RBI double to center, and Ben Rogers stroked a

The Nationals trailed 4-2 in the bottom of the sixth before rallying for three clutch runs to pull out the win against visiting SLW at the Chandler Road field.

Righthander Rich Umlah (1-0) went the distance on the mound for A-N, yielding only two hits while striking out nine and walking two.

pinch-hit single to plate Hughes with the final run.

Methuen West's only threat came in the fifth when it had runners at second and third (single, hit batsman, wild pitch), but Yurko escaped the jam to preserve the shutout.

Maloney, Hughes and Gleason led the 10-hit attack with two safeties each. Caruso, Miliotis, DaSilva and Rogers added one safety apiece.

Defensive standouts were second baseman Chris Cataldo, who made two diving catches, and Gleason who was solid behind the plate.

Andover National 5
So. Lawrence West 4

The Nationals grabbed a 2-1 lead in the first when Justin Rego singled, Kevin Shepard beat out a bunt single, and Jeff Volinski of the Town Champion Mets clouted a two-run double to left field.

South Lawrence West tied it with a run in the fourth, and moved ahead with two more in the fifth.

The pivotal Andover sixth-inning comeback started when Jeff Marshall and Marty DeFrancisco beat out consecutive infield hits with one down. Marshall scored on a passed ball, Umlah walked, and DeFrancisco raced home with the tying run on Bob Mazza's infield out.

Umlah advanced to third on Mazza's grounder, and scored the winning run when the SLW first baseman tried to throw him out and sailed the toss over the third baseman's head.

The Nationals finished the game with seven hits, including two bunts and two infield singles. Mazza added a hit and Nate Stoezel beat out a bunt.

JUNIOR 13 DIVISION

Andover 10

Lowell Gallery 3

Big leftlander Rich Sheldon went the seven-inning distance on the mound for Andover, allowing six hits while walking five and whiffing five at the Doherty Middle School field.

The Lowell team included several members of the Gallery crew that won the District 14 Major Division title last year and advanced to the State Tournament championship game before losing to Middleboro, 3-1. Middleboro went on to win the Eastern Regionals and play in the Little League World Series in Williamsport, Pa.

Andover scored single runs in the first and third innings, while Gallery countered in the third and fourth, as the teams headed down the stretch locked in a 2-2 tie.

Sheldon escaped two huge jams during the early innings.

Gallery loaded the bases with no one out in the second, but two strikeouts and a tapper back to Sheldon at the mound quelled the threat. Lowell also left the bases loaded in the fourth.

Andover scored three runs in the fifth to grab a 5-2 lead. Singles by Jack Wittbold, Mike Giles and Dave Powers (RBI) broke the tie. Paul Wysocki then lofted a sacrifice fly and Sean Lawton also stroked an RBI single.

Giles belted an RBI triple in the sixth to boost the lead to 6-2.

A four-run seventh sealed the win as Lawton reached on an error, Chris King walked, Mark Russo walked, Scott Mackin (RBI) walked, Wittbold walked (RBI), and Giles drilled a two-run double to left field.

Giles led the 12-hit Andover offense with 4-for-5 including two singles, one double, one triple and three RBI.

Wittbold was 3-for-3 with three singles, Lawton ripped a double and single, Wysocki doubled, Sheldon singled and Powers singled. Wysocki also played a strong defensive game at first base.

SENIOR 14-15 DIVISION

Billerica National 16

Andover 2

Although the game was played at the Locke School field in Billerica, Andover was designated the home team by a coin flip.

Billerica National took advantage of Andover's first-game jitters to score 10 runs in the top of the opening inning, so the locals were behind 10-0 before they came to bat. After that shaky first it settled into a very competitive game.

Brian Kramer singled home the first Andover run in the second stanza, and a bases-loaded walk to Mike Lewis forced home the second run in the bottom of the fifth. The game was halted after five innings by the 10-run mercy rule.

D.J. Bligh and Pete Maguire had the other two Andover hits, both singles, while the runs were scored by Scott Brodsky and James Tammaro. The locals received strong defensive play from outfielders Brodsky, who threw a Billerica runner out at the plate from right field, Justin Yee and Chris Cordima.

Post 8 Legion sluggers seek pennant with 12-4 record

By Rick Harrison

The Andover Post 8 American Legion baseball team received outstanding pitching, consistent hitting and sharp defense to stretch its overall record to 12-4 heading into this week's action.

Post 8 had a nine-game win streak snapped by a tough 8-7 loss to Methuen Post 122 last week, but Andover remained in the thick of the Essex County Zone 8A pennant race with recent victories over Peabody (10-4), East Boston (16-1), Winthrop (4-2), Beverly (5-3) and Lynn Post 6 (4-3).

Those results gave Andover an 11-1 record over a 12-game span following a sluggish 1-3 start.

"I'm very happy with this group of kids," said head coach Joe Iarrobino, whose assistants are Steve Tisbert and Kevin Rourke. "We're playing good baseball and everyone on the 18-player roster is contributing to our success. Almost every pitcher we send to the mound is coming through with a strong performance," said Iarrobino. "The defense has been solid, and the only real cause for concern is some inconsistency at the plate."

Haverhill, with just two losses, was leading Zone 8A entering this week's play.

Andover, 7-4 in the league, was tied for second with Danvers while Methuen and Lawrence Post 15 are still in the hunt.

Andover has won the Zone title five of the last six years, but will need some help to overtake Haverhill this summer.

Each Zone champ automatically qualifies for the State playoffs, and there is also a wild card berth available for the second-place team in Zones 8, 8A and 8B with the best overall record.

The playoffs start in two weeks.

Post 8 has a crucial game at Haverhill tonight.

Andover 4
Lynn 3

Alex Marshall belted an RBI triple and scored on Mark Langone's suicide squeeze bunt, capping a four-run rally in the bottom of the first, as Post 8 held on to edge visiting Lynn Connery Post 6 at the Andover High junior varsity field. Andover did not score again, and only threatened one more time, while Lynn made it interesting with one run in the third and two more in the sixth.

Rangy righty Tom Clarke (5-0) pitched the first 5 1/3 innings for Post 8, yielding five hits and all three runs while walking four and striking out five.

Mark Langone got the final out in the sixth, with the tying and go-ahead runners aboard, and then blanked Lynn in the seventh to register the save with 1 1/3 innings of shutout relief.

The victory was especially sweet for coach Iarrobino who is a Lynn native and played Legion ball for the Shoemaker Post in that city.

The four-run Andover first opened with a sharp single to left field by leadoff batter Todd Harris. Hugh Quattlebaum was hit by a pitch, Brian Tisbert bunted the runners into scoring position, Harris scored on Rick Mendez' fielder's choice, and Quattlebaum crossed on a balk. Marshall made it 3-0 with his long triple to right-center, and Langone rescued the eventual game-winning run with his squeeze bunt.

For Andover, which managed only four hits, the only other safeties were a two-out single by Harris in the second and a two-out opposite-field single by Mendez in the third.

Post 8 threatened in the fifth when Clarke reached on a third-strike wild pitch, Harris walked, and Quattlebaum was safe on an error to load the bases. But an unusual double play and subsequent infield groundout ended the bid. Clarke cruised into the sixth with a 4-1 lead, having surrendered only three singles.

A one-out double, and consecutive two-out walks, loaded the bases before a lengthy disagreement between coaches on both sides and the umpires caused a delay.

When play resumed, Clarke went to 3-2 on the next batter before he spanked a two-run single to left.

Langone was summoned in relief, and he prevented further damage by retiring the next batter on a grounder to Quattlebaum who had shifted from right field to third base.

Post 6 put the tying run aboard in the seventh on a one-out walk, but the game ended on a strikeout and a line drive stabbed ankle high by shortstop Harris.

Harris finished with three assists and two putouts, including a pickoff that took the starch out of a third-inning Post 6 rally. Harris also went

2-for-2 at the plate.

Andover 5
Beverly 3

Rick Mendez' tie-breaking two-run single in the bottom of the fifth, and a solid five-hit complete-game pitching performance by righthander Alex Marshall (3-1), sparked Post 8 to an important victory over Beverly Spears Post 331 at the Andover High junior varsity field last Saturday.

Marshall allowed five singles, one an infield hit, while striking out three and walking four after show-ers delayed the start of the game 23 minutes. He was backed by excellent defensive support in the infield from

Andover Gold swings into another winning season

By Rick Harrison

Andover Gold, which last summer won the championship in its division of the Suburban Pony League and advanced to the playoff semifinals, recently opened its 1995 baseball season with a 6-1 record through eight games.

Gold belted the North Reading Braves, 20-5, doubled up Medford, 10-5, outslugged the Wilmington Wildcats, 13-7, tied Stoneham, 5-5, and last Sunday morning handed the Lowell Police their first loss, 6-1.

Last week's scheduled Blue-Gold game, the first of two this month between the intra-town archrivals, was postponed because of problems with the on-going construction at the high school. The makeup date has not been announced.

Gold remains in the thick of the East Division pennant fight, a four-way battle among the Lowell Police (8-1-1, 17 points), Gold (7-1-1, 15 points), defending champion North Andover Knights (7-2-0, 14 points) and Andover Blue (5-1-3, 13 points).

Andover Gold 20 North Reading 5

The locals used a pair of nine-run explosions in the second and sixth innings to key its season-opening romp over North Reading at the Andover High field.

Marty Lastrina sparked the nine-run second stanza with a pair of hits, as Gold combined two doubles, four singles and three walks. Nine hits and a sacrifice fly highlighted the big sixth-inning uprising. Left fielder Lastrina finished the game 4-for-4, including three doubles, and he scored three runs. Shortstop Brendan Long contributed three hits, three RBI and three runs scored, while third baseman Doug Henderson added three hits and scored twice.

Catcher Jeff Sandison scored three runs and drove home four more with a pair of safeties. Each Andover player scored at least one run, and Gold pounded out 20 hits to back complete-game winning pitcher Chris Wholley. Defensive standouts were center fielder Matt Drizen with fine catches, and second baseman Christian Sempere who handled numerous chances flawlessly.

Andover Gold 10 Medford 5

Andover bolted to a 7-0 lead in the second inning, and then cruised to victory at Playstead Park in Medford.

Doug Henderson authored Gold's second consecutive route-going pitching performance, mixing a sharp-breaking curve with a crisp fastball. Henderson became stronger as the game progressed, yielding just two hits and one run and retiring the last seven Medford batters in order.

Brendan Long laced two hits and scored two runs, while Christian Sempere drove home two runs with a double and triple.

Henderson helped his cause with two hits and two ribbies, and third baseman Rick Johnson reached base four times and scored three runs.

Defensively, Scott Ciruso was sharp at first base and Gold also turned a pair of double plays. Long, Sempere and Ciruso turned a perfect 6-4-3 twin-killing in the first inning, while left fielder Lastrina ended a fourth-inning Medford threat with a catch and strong throw to double up a runner trying to tag and score from third base.

Andover Gold 13 Wilmington 7

Chris Wholley (2-0) earned his second victory, and the winners wiped out an early 2-0 deficit with six-run outbursts in the second and fourth frames at Andover High.

Coach Charlie Long's Gold loaded the bases in the second on a pair of walks and a hit batsman. They scored the six runs when Wholley reached on an error, and RBI singles were laced by Matt Drizen, Rick Johnson and Brendan Long. The six-run fourth featured singles by Christian Sempere, Marty Lastrina, Wholley and Drizen along with a triple by Doug Henderson.

Wilmington stirred around with four runs in the fifth, taking advantage of a Wholley wild streak before he was relieved by Drizen. The Wildcats managed only one hit in the inning.

Drizen finished with three RBI, Johnson added two, and contributing one ribbie each were Sempere, Long, Henderson, Lastrina and Wholley. Defensive standouts were catcher Jeff Sandison, left fielder Lastrina who tracked down two long fly balls, third baseman Johnson and shortstop Long who combined for three putouts and five assists.

Andover Gold 5 Stoneham 5

The locals enjoyed brief 3-2, 4-3 and 5-4 leads, but host Stoneham rallied for a run in the bottom of the seventh to forge the final deadlock of the game at Stoneham High. Lastrina pitched four innings, striking out three, walking four and yielding three runs. Four walks and an error enabled Stoneham to grab a 2-0 lead in the first.

Gold bounced back with three runs in the second. Scott Ciruso and Lastrina walked, both runners advanced on a passed ball, Matt Drizen reached on a two-out error to rescue Ciruso, and Branzetti followed with a two-run single to center field.

Stoneham tied it 3-3 in the third, when pitcher John Davis clouted a long triple and scored on a wild pitch.

With two away in the Gold fifth, consecutive singles by Christian Sempere, Doug Henderson and Ciruso (RBI) gave Andover a short-lived 4-3 lead. Henderson relieved Lastrina in the fifth with a man on first, and Stoneham eventually tied it after a stolen base, error and run-scoring infield out. Gold regained the advantage, 5-4, with an unearned run in the seventh. Rick Labbe reached on an error, took second on a passed ball, and Henderson chased home pinch-runner Steve Arsenault with a long double over the center fielder's head.

Stoneham salvaged the tie in the bottom of the seventh without a hit, scoring on a walk, stolen base, infield out and wild pitch. Henderson then slammed the door with a strikeout and two infield grounders.

Lastrina and Henderson combined for a two-hitter but walks, passed balls and wild pitches hurt. Henderson ripped a double and two singles, Ciruso contributed two hits, Branzetti and Sempere had one each.

YOUTH SOCCER

The Andover Raiders finished their season at 5-1-2 to advance into the Essex District Championship Playoffs in the U-14 girls division.

Andover Raiders 3 - North Andover Tornadoes 0

Aggressive midfield action set up Andover's first score as Lynne Tylus passed to Rachel Greer to set up a shot by Anna Vining. The Tornadoes fought back with numerous shots on goal but keeper Laura Schrader smothered every attempt. In the second half, Kristin Wilson and Jessica Olans fought heavy rain and wind to control the midfield as defenders Judy Huang and Lindsey Hartwell stopped many Tornado advances to preserve Schrader's well-earned shutout. In the final moments, Allison James advanced deep into the Raiders' backfield and launched a perfect cross pass to Siobhan Landry who scrambled to score Andover's final goal.

Swampscott Strikers 3 - Andover Raiders 0

The Raiders played a physical match in the quarterfinals against an older Swampscott team. Midfielders Emily Rice and Beth Regan won key battles for the ball during most of the game. In the second half, Judy Huang and Angeline Yang paralyzed the Swampscott offense with aggressive play and aerial feeds to midfielder Beth Regan who muscled her way through a tough Swampscott midfield. Forwards Morgan Jacobson and Liz Connors sparked the closing minutes with great plays.

The top 12 U-12 girls Division 1 teams in the state faced off at Fort Devens for the state championship in the Mass. Tournament of Champions. Andover Blaze finished fifth in the state without a loss.

Blaze 0 - Holden 0

Blaze controlled the first half and Holden controlled play in the second. Keeper Kerri Axelrod controlled the penalty box, denying Holden any serious chances.

Blaze 0 - Berkshire 0

Blaze and Berkshire had split two previous tournament matches. Axelrod again controlled her penalty box. Late in the match, Allison Pennelli was called upon to clear a dangerous ball from the weak side goalbox. Two minutes from time, sweeper Diana Petersen was injured and lost for the rest of the tournament.

Blaze 3 - Duxbury 1

After many shots, the first goal came at 25 minutes of the first half. Bridget Gomes and Kerry Nugent played combination ball into the right corner. Nugent crossed to the six where Katie Witman beat her mark and finished.

Six minutes into the second half, Gomes lofted a corner kick into the target area. Jen Annese streaked to the ball and finished soundly. Five minutes from time, Kaitlin Hill's centering pass found Nugent running and scoring.

A controversial call one minute from time gave Duxbury an indirect from eight yards out. Blaze lined the goal and stopped the shot but the rebound skimmed in under the bar.

Blaze failed to advance to the semifinals as a result of a goal scored in the last 10 seconds of the Holden-Berkshire match.

Blaze finished a 34-game year with only four losses. They had two tournament trophies, second place in Essex County and fifth place in the state.

Booters of the week: Jen Annese, Kerri Axelrod, Jen Busby, Janice Chu, Bridget Gomes, Amy Herlihy,

Mets win Major Little League town championship

By Rick Harrison

The National League Mets won the 1995 Andover Major 11-12 year old Little League Town Championship recently, sweeping the American League Indians 4-3 and 11-4 in their best-of-3 series at the Chandler Road complex. The sweep completed a terrific comeback by the Mets, who began the season placing sixth and last during the first half in the highly-competitive NL. But Manager Frank Mazza's crew rebounded to win the second half with a 6-2 record, then blasted the first-half champion Cubs 16-4 in a one-game league playoff before beating the Indians. The Mets won nine of their last 11 and finished the season with a 12-7 record.

First Game: Mets 4-Indians 3

Lefthander Jeff Volinski went the distance on the mound for the champs, surviving a seventh-inning scare by striking out the final batter with the bases loaded. Volinski finished with a nine-hitter and seven strikeouts over the six-innings. Indians' pitchers Dan Hughes and Nick Hankey hurled three and two innings, respectively, combining for a three-hitter. But the Mets jumped ahead 2-0 in the bottom of the first when Andy Salani walked, Volinski walked, both advanced on a passed ball, and Mike Capano lashed a two-run single.

The Indians closed to 2-1 in the top of the third as Chris Caverly singled and rode home on Hughes' RBI double. Brendan Gleason also singled before Volinski quelled the uprising.

runs in the two games, hit his fifth of the season with the bases empty in the bottom of the third to make it 3-1. The Mets' winning run came in the fifth when Rich Furness walked, Volinski walked and Bob Mazza spanked an RBI single. The Indians almost pulled it out in the top of the sixth.

Gleason belted a leadoff double and scored on Hankey's single. Jeff Sandman kept it alive with a one-out single, Ryan Hutzler walked to load the bases, and Caverly drew a two-out walk to force home a run. Volinski bore down, with the league's best hitter on deck, and fanned the next batter to preserve the victory.

Second Game: Mets 11-Indians 4

The Mets scored in every inning except the fifth, building an 8-0 lead through four innings, and lefthander Andy Salani did the job on the mound. Salani tossed a route-going three-hitter, fanning six. Nick Hankey, Jeff Sandman and Dan Hughes pitched two innings each for the AL champs.

The Mets jumped ahead 2-0 in the top of the first when Salani singled, Jeff Volinski hammered an RBI double, and Brian DeCoursey slapped a run-scoring single.

The lead skied to 5-0 in the second as Nick Webber beat out a bunt single, Salani singled, and Volinski belted a three-run homer (second of series, sixth of season). In the Mets' third Webber singled, Volinski walked, and RBI singles were ripped by Bob Mazza and Mike Capano.

The score soared to 8-0 in the fourth after Crawford Sinkerson doubled and raced across on Salani's third straight hit.

The Indians got on the board in the fifth. Mike Bouchard walked, Andy Chiaraluce laced an RBI double, Chris Caverly and Sandman walked to load the bases, and Hughes stroked a run-scoring single.

In the three-run Mets' sixth DeCoursey singled, Rich Furness walked, Capano was hit by a pitch to load the bases, Salani lashed a two-run single, and Mazza added an RBI safety. Mark Matos made a diving catch at shortstop to end the game.

Legion wins big

shortstop Brian Tisbert (five assists), second baseman Todd Harris (two putouts, two assists), and third baseman Mark Langone (three assists). Tisbert, Harris and first baseman Mendez pulled off a sharp 6-4-3 double play, and the game ended with a pair of fielding gems by Tisbert and Langone on difficult grounders.

Marshall retired the first seven batters he faced before a single, wild pitch and RBI single to center field gave the visitors a 1-0 lead in the top of the third.

Andover squandered a major opportunity in its half of the third, loading the bases on consecutive leadoff singles by Mark O'Sullivan, Keith Grant and a second straight walk to Hugh Quattlebaum. But Post 8 ran into an out at the plate, and the inning ended on a 1-2-3 double play after a one-hopper back to the mound.

Andover tied it 1-1 in the fourth as Marshall singled to center, raced around to third when the ball skipped past the outfielder, and scored on Mark Langone's first-pitch suicide squeeze bunt single. The locals broke the game open in the fifth, sending 10 batters to the plate and scoring four runs.

Todd Harris walked, stole second and third, and with one out Tisbert was hit by a pitch and promptly stole second. Mendez then sliced a 2-2 pitch to the opposite field for the go-ahead two-run single. Marshall walked and Langone ripped an RBI single to center rescuing Mendez with the eventual winning run. Dave Salafia looped a single to right, and Marshall scored the insurance marker when Joe Maglio lashed a hard grounder the Beverly third baseman could only knock down with a dive.

Trailing 5-1, Post 331 scored single runs in the sixth and seventh innings without hitting the ball out of the infield. A single to short, throwing error, passed ball and groundout plated the run in the sixth. Two walks, a wild pitch and an infield out did the damage in the seventh.

Langone paced the seven-single Andover offense with two hits and two RBI, while Marshall scored twice.

New Bodies

New Bodies has a three-fold program that addresses issues of health, beauty and comfort.

New Bodies offers the Wolf System for tanning sessions that utilizes weed beds that leave no tan lines and protects the body from harmful c-rays.

The European Universal Body Wrap is available at New Bodies. This sea-dial based process tones and tightens loose skin and tissue, reduces unsightly cellulite, fades stretch marks, and tightens hips, arms and thighs. It helps those who do not have excess weight to lose inches in the appropriate places.

The Slenderquest Toning System is a quick, easy and inexpensive way to get in shape. Six different machines are designed to work on all parts of the body to tone, tighten and rid the body of cellulite.

New Bodies carries most brands of tanning lotions accelerators and moisturizers as well as a selection of goggles.

Owner Rose Bistany is assisted by a trained and experienced staff. Ginnie Atkins Leman is a Licensed (#MA0015545) Massage Therapist who is certified in neuromuscular therapy and Swedish massage. Larry Medolo is a Certified Specialist in Sports Massage, which is designed to provide therapeutic impact for the unique physical and biomechanical needs of athletes. Dottie Santorelli and Yvonne Nocoletti are manicurists who stay current with the latest trends in nail health and fashions. They also do facials, pedicures, waxing and makeup application.

New Bodies offers a relaxing and rejuvenating experience. Call Rose Bistany for further information and summer specials. Gift certificates are available. New Bodies by Slenderquest is conveniently located in Messina's Shopping Center, 109 Main Street, North Andover. Hours are Monday through Friday 8:00 a.m. to 9:00 p.m. and Saturday 8:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m. Telephone: (508) 688-8040.

4 assistant superintendent finalists interviewed

Mary Ellen Correa

Dr. Correa believes schools are stuck in the past and failing to keep pace with the demands of society.

High schools should be "preparing kids for jobs that are actually out there instead of jobs that are obsolete," she said. "I look at education as being in a time warp. We're sitting here in a school house and the rest of the world is changing around us."

Dr. Correa spent 10 years at the elementary level before moving to secondary education and then to administrative posts.

As a grant-writer in Texas representing a 35,000-student area, Dr. Correa has focused on bringing down the area's high 40 to 50 percent dropout rate, but she said she's now "ready for a change."

She developed a bilingual newsletter while working in Texas and told the committee Tuesday, "I feel you always having the major stakeholders involved" when evaluating and developing a curriculum.

In previous positions as dean of instruction and assistant principal, Dr. Correa was in charge of various aspects of staff development. She said Texas communities have gone through several educational reforms as they try to move away from tracking, something "Andover administrators say does not exist in Andover."

She said students need to develop "real self esteem" based on what they accomplish rather than false self esteem.

"I believe in kids really being challenged as much as they can be without being frustrated," she said.

Dr. Correa is married with three children, a 21-year-old daughter, an 18-year-old son, and a 16-year-old son.

Donald Bevelander

Dr. Bevelander, who described himself as "a guru of writing" for Natick, said if a person can't explain what he has learned in a "thoughtful, articulate way then he really hasn't mastered the material."

He said he constantly hears, "If you can't write well, you're destined to fail."

Obviously familiar with the Education Reform Act, Dr. Bevelander said he's been restructuring Natick High School to have longer time blocks, which he believes will help students "learn more in depth."

Mary Ellen Correa

Donald Bevelander

Elsa Wasserman

Marinel McGrath

Dr. Bevelander, a Framingham resident, said he follows the ACBD rule - Always Consult Before Deciding.

"You need to consult with staff and get enough staff behind you so you're not fighting your own people" when developing or evaluating curriculum, he said.

Dr. Bevelander said he's nearly obsessed with collecting the positive things his school does and letting the community know about them.

He said one of his best qualities is his ability to focus on the proper goals.

"I think I have a track record of focusing in on the real key things that need to be done," he said.

Dr. Bevelander is divorced and has no children.

Elsa Wasserman

A self-described life-long learner and "big writing freak," Dr. Wasserman went to Costa Rica last summer to learn Spanish. She has held several positions, including those of teacher and guidance counselor, and said she is a strong supporter of staff development.

If given the position here, she said she would sit down with the professional development committee here and create a plan.

"It has to be part of a plan. I don't go for a shot of this or a shot of that because it's trendy. I don't think that's helpful," she said.

Dr. Wasserman stressed the importance of partnerships with the business community and said she supports going to community-group meetings and holding administrative coffee hours.

"One of the things I really like doing is community forums," she said. "We're all in this together. This is not something that anyone can do apart from parents and (community)."

Dr. Wasserman said the Chelsea system successfully used extended class periods when she was there. She said a 42-minute period "really doesn't make a lot of sense."

Dr. Wasserman has three grown children and two grandchildren. She said she wants to come here because "there's a can-do feeling about Andover."

Marinel McGrath

Ms. McGrath, a doctoral candidate, said she would take a break from her studies if selected as Andover's assistant superintendent. She said the position will allow her to do what she likes to do and believes she is good at - namely, meet with teachers and principals in the classroom and develop a relationship with the community.

"One of the things I pride myself in is that I spend a good amount of time in the buildings," she said.

She said a community needs to look at what incentives are available when it's developing a professional development program.

"A successful professional program is one that has not only given people the theoretical background, but then there has to be a very strong component of actual training," said Ms. McGrath.

As director of curriculum and instruction in Newburyport, Ms. McGrath played a key role in implementing a national program aimed at restructuring the entire High School to use longer class periods.

She said the system "met with successes and some difficulties in moving to that 90 minute block."

This restructuring program combined the schools standard, or lowest, educational level with the college level classes to create mixed ability classrooms. She said this can "raise the tide" of standard-level students' performance.

Ms. McGrath also said teachers must make students see that what they are learning has a direct application in the real world.

Ms. McGrath is married to a middle-school principal and has no children.

THE NAILERY

The nail color display at 10 Main Street brings brightness and cheerfulness to the downstairs where the Nailery is located. The Nailery offers manicures, pedicures and an array of accessories in a spacious salon that offers room to relax in a refreshing atmosphere.

The staff wishes to extend a "Welcome back" to their clients who winter in Florida or other areas.

All are encouraged to participate in the Nailery's Calendar of Events. Various specials are being offered during the month of July (free paraffin, 20% off accessories, manicure and pedicure for $20.00, etc.) and a surprise package drawing worth $75.00. Smiles are always free at the Nailery. Please call for further information. Full and minipedicures, with paraffin are available. Manicures encompass all that is needed for the health and beauty of hands: French, "hand facials", silk wraps, acrylics, nail art with an air brush and manicures with paraffin to deep moisturizer treatment.

Aveda, O.P.I. and Essie nail products are carried. Aveda Botanical Kinetics skin care products were developed by Aveda scientists and medical doctors, and safety-tested by dermatologists, for skin maintenance for every woman, man and child.

Fun and inexpensive accessories are on display that make great gifts. The selection includes purses, belts, earrings, hair accessories, necklaces, pins, watches and scarves with a contemporary flare. Owner Kim Salvia and Dana Wallis are pleased to have Jennifer Conway back. The staff regularly attends courses to keep current with the latest trends in the field.

The Nailery is located at 10 Main Street, Andover, downstairs from Bruegger's. They are closed Sunday and Monday. Hours are Tuesday 9:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday 9:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m., Friday 9:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. and Saturday 9:00 a.m. to 3:00 p.m. Walk-ins are welcome. Don't touch that dirt!

By Don Staruk

Think some of that good dirt at Andover High School would look good in your front yard? Forget it.

"Nothing goes in, nothing goes out," Allan Morash, clerk of the works for the construction project, said this week.

Some residents have expressed interest in getting some of the dirt for yard projects, but Mr. Morash said all of the dirt removed during construction of the High School addition will be used on the site. And that's too bad, because he also said it is excellent loam.

"As far as the job is concerned, nothing is allowed off the site. Nothing leaves, nothing. Not legally anyway," Mr. Morash said.

And he said that for a good reason. Someone did take the fence down and tire tracks were found entering and leaving the site. He expects was a couple truckloads of dirt were taken.

The only thing that has been allowed off the site legally was a small amount of ledge that had been blasted, but that was only rock - not dirt, Mr. Morash said. Removal of that ledge, which was in excess of what they were expecting to have on the site, was authorized by the town manager, he said.

Bicyclist injured in hit-and-run

By Don Staruk

An Andover bicyclist was injured early Tuesday morning, July 11, when he was allegedly sideswiped by a car pulling into Raytheon Co. on Lowell Street and knocked to the ground.

The car did not stop and the victim said it is possible the driver does not even know the two collided.

Dan Enos, 54, of 168 High Plain Road, was taken to Lawrence General Hospital with a broken elbow and possibly a fractured leg, according to police. He was listed in good condition at the hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. Enos told police he was biking east on Lowell Street at 5:38 a.m. when the car entering Raytheon turned in front of him. He hit the rear fender of the car, according to the police report. He had no description of the car.

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS THE TRIAL COURT THE PROBATE AND FAMILY COURT 36 Federal Street Salem, MA 01970 Essex Division

Docket No. 95P 1492-EPI
Estate of JAMES F. BURKE late of Andover in the County of Essex.

NOTICE

A petition has been presented in the above-captioned matter praying that a certain instrument be probated purporting to be the last will of said deceased by ANN J. BURKE of Andover in the County of Essex praying that she be appointed executrix thereof without giving a surety on her bond.

If you desire to object to the allowance of said petition, or your attorney should file a written appearance in said Court at Salem on or before 10:00 in the forenoon on August 7, 1995.

In addition you should file a written statement of objections to the petition, giving specific grounds therefore, within thirty (30) days after the return day (or such other time as the Court, on motion with notice to the petitioner, may allow) in accordance with Probate Rule 16.

Witness, Thaddeus Buczek, Esquire, First Justice of said Court at Salem, the thirtieth day of June in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and ninety-five.

ERRORS: It is the advertiser's responsibility to check ads for corrections upon first insertion. The Andover Townsman will only be responsible for one incorrect ad insertion and then only to the extent that the error affects the response rate of the advertisement.

WRITING AN EFFECTIVE AD

1. Start your ad with the merchandise you are selling or service you are offering. This makes it easier for the reader to locate your advertisement.
2. Always include the price of the item you are selling. Many readers will not respond to an ad that has no price included.
3. Place yourself in the reader's position. Include specific descriptions and you will get a quicker response.

Meet CAROLINA LEVIE

Ten years of moves in seven different locations across three continents with her young family have taught Carolina first hand the art of relocation. Combining this experience with her multi-lingual background and a bachelor's degree in business administration with a specialization in finance, Carolina felt that a career in real estate was a natural choice. Since joining Hunneman & Company-Coldwell Banker in 1994, she has enthusiastically embraced her new career.

Currently Carolina lives in Andover with her husband and two children. She believes that taste, personal needs and fulfillment of dreams are indisputable decision-making factors. It is her business philosophy to complement these factors and assist customers and clients by providing a full range of real estate expertise and service.

Call Carolina Levie-another good reason why a move with Hunneman is the smart move.
